Office: Nos. 25 and 27 Fourteenth Street THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 21.

The Voter With Two G.'s

We are sorry to see Col. Bob McEldowney, of the Weizel Democrat, so terribly worked up about "niggerlsm." The idea of a nigger having a vote is the iron that has entered Robert's soul, and he howls like a regular Weizel county wild cat. And yet Robert is a good-Democrat, and has, you know, accepted the Constitutional Amendments in good faith; or, in other words, until the Democracy can get a whack at them through a reorganized Supreme Court. This is good faith with the proper Democratic reservation attach-

Col. Bob forgets some things that he ought to remember. The nigger (spelled with two g's) is a numerous inhabitant of this country. He was born here, labors here, pays taxes here, and is a large factor in the productive and comsuming capacity of the country. He has been a creature of toil, oppression and bargain and sale for generations. He has always submitted to whatever was meeted out to him by the superior race, and precious little but cuffs and kicks have been meeted to him. In order to imbrute him still more, and to take a vsy the last vestige of hope from him and his posterity the Democratic party got up a conspiracy to destroy the country and erect a slave enpire with Sambo as its corner stone. For some reason or other the Atmighty did not smile on the undertaking. The Democratic party got badly licked in the operation, and, as was proper and just, have been licked several times since, including their recent licking in Indiana. Meanwhile, while this licking process of the Democracy was going on, Providence, according to a beautiful law of righteous retribution, has been lending the poor negro a hand, and has gdyanced him several pegs to the cuffs and kicks have been meeted to him. beautiful law of righteous retriouted, has been lending the poor negro a hand, and has sdvanced him several pegs to the front. The principal sid rendered has been to keep the Democracy off of him. Some little incidental gasistance in the way of schools has also been extended to him. In order to keep the Democracy off him, and give him any show whatever for the future, it was necessary to put the weapon of the ballot in his hand. He is no match whatever for the Democracy in the use of shot guns, and he does not even handle a hallot with the dexterity that he cecasionally wields a razor. But, Robert, please remember, that "The time was, Robert, and not very long ago either, when very many beloved Democratic brethren of Wetzel county."

He stepped up to Mr. Davis and the two has been lending the poor negro a hand, ago either, when very many beloved Democratic brethren of Wetzel county were not considered sufficiently civilized by their slaveholding masters at Richmond to exercise the elective franchise. Some people are uncharitable enough to intimate that some of these brethren are not any too far advanced even yet, and that an occasional nigger with two g's can equal them either as 'possum hunters or voters. Be this as it may, and we carefully refrain from expressing any opinion on this point, Col. Bob must admit that there are a great many niggers with two g's who have greatly advanced in the scale of intelligence since the war. Their advance is at least partially owing to the fact that they have been made voters. For instance, take Old Virginia to-day, where Maloue has marshalled so many of them under his standard, and take Colquitt, in Georgia, who has marshalled great numbers under his banner, and do not these two g'd votera of Virginia and Georgia owe whatever consideration they have received, and whatever advantages they have enjoyed from stump oratory, to the fact that they have votes? We should say so, and we think Col. Bob will say so too. Well, it was long ago proved that a boy must go into the water in order to learn to swim, and must have a gun in order to learn to swon, and it seems to follow that the American citizens of African descent must be enfranchised in order to enjoy the educational advantages of stump oratory and of political letters helding and coloratage. And the the specking and coloratage. not any too far advanced even yet, and My astonishment had been great when that an occasional nigger with two g's can was informed that this rough, coarse look tages of stump oratory and of political button-holeing and colportage. And while, as in the case of Antonio and Shylock, the fact of their having a vote does not protect the sons of Ham from outrage. any more than the possession of "monies protected the sons of Israel, yet, as in the case of Antonio, it operates powerfully every now and then to bring needy fellows of the superior race down to their marrow bones.

For instance, we know of nothing more edifying in American politics to-day than the sight of Mahone and his half of the Virginia Democracy crying out to the fellow-citizen with two g's, "help, Cassius! or I sink." (Sembo does not go by the name of Cassius over there, but we cannot spoil the quotation on that account.) The two Virginia Democratic factions are teaching the two g'd voters over there the great mysteries of finance. Ian't that something, Col. Robert? Isn't it a great deal? How enviable is their intellectual county Democrate who feed alone on the speeches of Col. Ben Wilson in this cancel was a gentleman with two g's who shall say that these later generations of Virginia Senegambians shall not yet come to the front as lightning calculators? or I sink." (Sambo does not go by the shall say that these later generations of Virginia Senegambians shall not yet come to the front as lightning calculators?

Robert, did it never occur to you that a race in our midst deprived of the ballot would perturb our legislation not a little? Being free, what would be their status? They are not Indians. Would you tax them, or allow them, and all the millions of property they may acquire, to escape taxation? Would you exempt them from all the burdens that fall upon the beneficiaries of public improvements, such as working on the roads, or paying for work of that kind? Who would be interested in their education and advancement if deprived of the ballot? They compel legislative attention now with their ballots, but how would they compel it without the ballot? Summon a little of your statesminship to this question, dismiss your prejudices for an hour or two, and give us the solution of "nigger-ism," as you call it, in this country deprived of the ballot. You were once deprived of the ballot for a short time your statesminship to this question.

"MR. PRESIDENT: We came here to-day, the sons and daughters of the South, only a few of us, but each one a respecter of our grand Confederacy, to render homage, and to renew our vows of love and featly to you, our uncrowned king.

"We come, sir, in the solitude of your home, and in the grandeur of your retirement from the public life you so long graced, and whose adherents we are proud to be, to sympathize with you, and to receive your sympathy in return for our fallen fortunes and our stricken land, and to reassure you that though chrushed and hamiliated, poverty stricken and abased, the germ of our independence is alive, and we only await the time when, under your guidance and direction, the conquered hanner shall rise again and once more lead us to our Southern rights and victory.

Two qualities distinguish the greater Northern pyramid from its smaller Southern companion. The former is honestly built; the latter is not. The Solid North rests on the firm foundation of National sovereignty, which is, and ever must be, the bed-rock of the Union; and the Solid South rests on the shiffing sands of Statesovereignty, and sees its future only in a mirage of the desert. A Potter's Politics.

Wellsville, O., October 20.—A prominent potter, of East Liverpool, hitherto a Democrat, made a journey to strong Democrat, made a journey to Washington especially to see the Tariff schedule and see how his interests would be effected by a "tariff for revenee only." He came back thoroughly converted and threw his whole influence in the late elections in favor of the Republican ticket. Our industries here are all largely Republican, more through the agitation of the tariff question than anything else. Bets are now freely offered on Garfield, with no takers.
